

Explain this statement to ABAWDs being interviewed who have exhausted their time limits.

(three "T" entries on ARFS between 1/1/2016 and 12/31/2018)

You have already received three time limited months. You are no longer eligible to receive Food Assistance unless you regain eligibility. You can do this at any time by meeting the 20 hour per week (80 hour per month) work requirement for 30 consecutive days, having an exclusion from the work requirements or when the three-year period expires (next period begins 1/1/2019).

There is no limit on how many times you can regain eligibility.

Once you have regained eligibility for food assistance and we have proven that you are eligible to participate in the program, you will remain eligible as long as you continue to meet the work requirements or meet an exclusion.
